

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Determination of PCR products amplified by PCR can be readily and surely conducted even if multiple types of primers are used therein. By using a biochip of a glass slide with primers for the PCR implanted thereon, competitive PCR is performed in one tube with the multiple types of primers, and amplified PCR products are detected by use of the primers on the biochip.